I think I was sufficiently prepared for departure and arrival in Spain through the Luther preparations

no

The pre-departure preparations were helpful. However, the safety meeting that we had prior to the trip made me rather anxious for the trip. Many of the things we talked about made me paranoid for the trip, and seemed unnecessary, especially for the area that I was traveling to.

Q38 - With respect to packing, what do you wish you had brought with you? What do you wish you had left behind?

I wish I had left behind a lot of my t-shirts. I didn't really have a need to wear them because I thought that 60 degrees would be warmer.

I wish I had packed slightly warmer clothes and less clothing because I was unaware that my host family would do my laundry for me.

I thought that the packing was rather accurate. I am very thankful that I brought a rain jacket.

Living with my host mom really challenged my Spanish skills, but it was also the best way in which I developed a better sense of myself as a Spanish speaker and communicator.

I really improved my comprehension and speaking abilities, especially through a host stay.

The experience of living with my host family changed my understanding of culture because of the differing manners between Spain and the United States.

Visiting the Mezquita in Cordoba allowed for me to understand the longstanding importance of the city and its role in Spain.

All of the museum/historical site visits, especially the Mezquita and Alcazar in Cordoba.

The expectation of walking everywhere helped further my understanding of the location where I studied because I was forced to become familiar with the area.

The Mezquita, The Royal Palace of Sevilla, The Cathedral of Sevilla, The Royal Palace of Cordoba, the bullfighting ring

The day trip to Sevilla to see the Cathedral and Museo del Prado.

The Mezquita Cathedral of Cordoba was my favorite because it is so impressive and the rich history that it holds.

I think being better prepared for what to expect as far as host family structure would help improve comfortability in the future.

It would have been helpful to know more information about my host family before going to Spain because it was very nerve-racking not knowing and a bit uncomfortable at first meeting her.

I liked that we could walk everywhere for the most part.

Would you recommend this program to others? Why or why not?

Yes. For anyone who wants to really work on their Spanish skills and appreciation of its origin, I would highly recommend this course.

Yes! It was a very fun trip where I learned a lot in ways that we can't learn here in the US.

I would recommend this program to others because I feel that living with a family and navigating the city alone gave me a more well rounded view of the city.
